

PRESENCE OF MIND SAVED CARMANIA

Officers' Quick Manoeuvring
Averted Disaster, Says
Crocker.

IN PORT AT HALIFAX

Near Panic Quickly Subdued
After Crash—Rooms
Flooded.

HALIFAX, Dec. 13.—Recitals of passengers on the Cunard liner Carmania, which arrived here this morning after being in collision with the American freighter Maryland Wednesday evening off Cape Race, indicate that a marine disaster of serious order was barely averted. The Maryland was heading, bow on, for the midships section of the Carmania when she loomed up out of the fog and darkness. Only quick manoeuvring of both vessels converted the shock into a glancing blow, which smashed in four ports and sheared off rivets and damaged plates on the liner over an area of twenty-five square feet. Temporary repairs, which were made after the collision, were inadequate to keep out the water during rough weather encountered the following morning, and rooms and corridors were flooded. The principal force of the collision was felt in the third class quarters. Two passengers, Elizabeth Amdon of New Bedford, Mass., and Elizabeth A. Fitzpatrick of Pawtucket, R. I., who were in their cabins, directly in the path of the Maryland's bow when the two vessels crashed, were removed to a hospital, but were found to be suffering only from shock. Most of the third class passengers had lined up for entrance to a concert in the dining saloon and were thrown from their feet by the impact. Women became hysterical, several fainted and great excitement prevailed until word came from the bridge that the liner was not seriously injured. First class passengers, who felt the shock to a lesser degree, united in praising the presence of mind of the captain and officers of the Carmania. "Another minute and every life might have been lost," said Richard Crocker, one of the passengers, describing the quick decisions of the officers. Three infants born at sea a few days before the accident were given Cunard names.

TO-MORROW LAST TAX DAY.

Income and Excess Profits Levies
Must Be Turned In.

William H. Edwards, Collector of Internal Revenue, expects that income and excess profits tax payments, finally due to-morrow, will bring the total collections for the year up to a billion dollars. To-morrow is the last day for final quarterly payments of income and excess profits taxes, and Collector Edwards has prepared for the last day rush.

The Collector expects the new forms for the 1920 collections to be ready before January 1, so that they will be available for business houses and big financial institutions that have already figured out their dues to the Government and that will have their figures ready when this year ends. The income tax rate for 1920 is 4 per cent. on the first $4,000 above the exemption and 8 per cent. on the remaining net income. The exemptions are practically the same.

EVERY CHILD TO GET GIFT.

Christmas Festival "Playland"
Will Be Held Dec. 22-27.

The children's Christmas festival, "Playland," will be held in the Grand Central Palace from December 22 to December 27. Mrs. William Curtis Demarest and Mrs. Charles S. Whitman said yesterday that with the support of more than thirty public spirited organizations in New York, the success of the festival is assured.

"There will be a gift for every child," said Mrs. Whitman, "and every individual and every organization should contribute something—not broken or worn-out things, but such toys as they would like their own children to receive. Story tellers will circulate among the thousands of children, telling real American stories to their groups. There will be Punch and Judy shows, bands, singers, motion picture shows, a real circus, Mother Goose games and pageants. Many stage professionals have offered their services."

The plans contemplate the biggest and most joyous Christmas party for the little people that New York ever knew.

Police Reserves Review Tuesday.

A review of the entire force of police reserves by Mayor Hylan will take place Tuesday night at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory, Fort Washington avenue and 168th street. A medal for distinguished service will be presented to Deputy Commissioner Rodman Wana-maker.
